

Mrs. Herbert J. Mastin, wife of County Commissioner Mastin, died at the family residence six miles southwest of Jamestown on Saturday, death being due to typhoid fever. She had been in the hospital at Jamestown for five months and had been removed to her home and seemed to be getting along nicely until she took a chill and never recovered from the effects of it. She leaves her husband and one adopted son and other relatives to mourn her death.