

Friday, while working in the Syver-son block, Bob Moffatt had the misfortune to step on a nail causing a painful but not serious wound. He was not able to work Saturday, but on Monday went to work as usual. In connection with his sore foot he also had the misfortune to fall through the floor of the store into the cellar below, and that is how he got his sore foot. As an acrobat Bob is not much of a success, although he is a good tumbler.
