

---

Christian Behm died Sunday afternoon about 2:30, at the ripe age of 75. He had been sick about a week and just quietly slept the sleep that knows no waking. The funeral services were held in the Congregational church Monday afternoon and the remains were interred in the Coopers-town cemetery.

---