

Fifteenth Anniversary

On New Year's day a company of friends and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Bolkan. It was the fifteenth anniversary of this ~~worthy~~ couple's married life and a very pleasant reception will be remembered by all present. At dinner, the centre of attraction was a large turkey of royal bronze descent, roasted in approved style, and an abundance of fresh oysters, in short the dinner did ample justice to Mrs. Bolkan's excellent cookery and all did justice to the dinner. Their home is protected by a beautiful grove of trees planted and tended by their own hands. The walk leading from the gate being flanked on either side by ash trees which they raised from the seed. This beautiful grove of trees illustrates what can be done by persistent, intelligent tree culture. Their home and its comforts have been won by honest dealings and hard knocks. We wish them many happy returns of their wedding anniversary—even to the seventy-fifth.
