We clip the appended local from the columns of the Fargo Forum, and we should judge that it was Harry Simington, who used to be the senior member of the firm of Simington & Miller, who used to do an insurance and collection business at Cooperstown:

“Cards have been received announcing the wedding in Chicago, Dec. 31, of Mary Belle McNealy, formerly an instructor in the schools here, to Harold B. Simington. They will be at home at 2124 Michigan Avenue, and their friends extend hearty congratulations. Captain Simington was formerly connected with some of Fargo's fiduciary institutions, and later owned a bank in Griggs county.”
