

A narrow escape Thursday as Aadne Vlgesaa and Henry Olson were preparing to go to Luverne and had driven the team to the house for the women to get in. The team feeling good and being cold started off. Aadne triad to get the lines but was unable to do so the team started to run. Miss Edythe Houghton was in the sleigh but being unable to get hold of the lines jumped from the sleigh. Henry Olson ran to catch them and just as he reached out the team turned at the corner of the granary and Henry fell under their feet and went in under the sleigh and face downward and was dragged about 8 or 10 rods with the team running at full speed. In some unknown way Henry freed himself from under the sleigh and got out as the team turned the corner of the barn. He was bruised up some and his knee was badly hurt. If it hadn't been for a heavy fleece-lined coat which he had on undoubtedly he would have been killed. The team ran through a barb wire gate and took several circles around the field before they were caught.
