

Elmer Walum, a nephew of Martin Walum, came up from Wisconsin last week to visit at his uncle's home. Martin Walum is now able to be up and around again after the injury he received to his foot last spring, but he is still compelled to use crutches.