—The following item appeared in the Fargo Argus in the write-up of Hatton in their issue of January 19th. The business man spoken of, Edward S. Carpenter, is a son of our townsman and good friend, H. D. Carpenter, and although not personally acquainted with his son, Edward, we learn from those who are intimately acquainted, that every word contained in the article as concerns his ability and integrity, is true, in fact he is one of those young men who is sure to succeed in whatever he undertakes:

Edward S. Carpenter—This young man is only 21 years of age, and has a bright future in store for him. He owns and conducts a meat market, the only one in the place. He came to Hatton in September of '89, with very little money and has since bought and paid for his lots and building in which he carries on his business, and has some money in the bank. He was born in Northwestern Vermont, and came to Steele county, Dak., in 1882. He has built up a successful business to which he devoted all his time and attention. He is bright, intelligent and active. He is also careful, prudent and saving, and is sure to make his way in the world.
