

Nels Habeth, a farm hand employed on the Beldier & Robinson farm, five miles north of Hope, met with a serious accident, Tuesday, while plowing. He was riding a gang plow when it struck a large stone, the shock displacing the lever which is used to raise and lower the plow, and it sprung back with great force, striking him in the scrotum, tearing and lacerating the flesh, inflicting a very painful and perhaps serious wound. The unfortunate man was at once brought to town and placed under the care of Dr. Philip. The doctor at once dressed the wound, but says it is too early yet to say how serious it will prove.
