

---

Almost everybody gone to the encampment at Spiritwood this week, and our town has a grave-yard appearance in quietness. The scarcity of local news this week is entirely due to the absence of people in town to make anything transpire. Read the few locals over several times each, and call it a feast, for it has made all hands in the office bustle to get even the small number we have.

---