

---

—Jacob Lang had cards printed at this office the first of the week, giving a description of the horses and other property stolen from him on the night of the 26th ult, and also a description of the thief, or the person strongly suspected of the theft. The cards were mailed to all the towns south, west and east of here, within a radius of hundreds of miles. So far nothing has been heard in regard to the stolen property or the thief.

---