
—C. H. Williams brought to this office last Saturday the branch of a cotton-wood tree from his door yard which measures $7\frac{1}{2}$ feet—this year's growth. It is wonderful the way the trees have grown this season. He also brought some specimen heads of wheat which were remarkably large and filled with fine, plump kernels.
