

DIED

In Chicago, Ill., May 12th, 1890, Mrs. C. A. Houghton, daughter of Rev. W. C. Whisnand, of Colgate, N. Dak.

Deceased was born at Spring Grove, Ill., Feb. 24, 1861, moved with her fathers family to Piper City, Ill., in 1867. Married to C. A. Houghton, of Monmouth, Ill., June 6, 1879. Early in life she made profession of faith in Christ and died triumphant in faith in her Saviour. Said she was going home to meet loved ones gone before. She leaves to mourn her departure a husband, father, sister and two brothers, and many friends.

Fair and cloudless rose her morning,
Bright her hopes inspired her breast,
Just as womanhood its dawning.
Her work was done, her form at rest.

Oh time will a lonely husband
Think of her lying cold and still,
Oh times will the tearful brothers and sisters,
Sigh for the loved one pale and chill,

A loving husband and faithful friends,
Gathered around her burial case,
One last look to give her features,
So calm and still in death's embrace.
