

CLIFTON.

Feb. 9.—The diphtheria seems to have been completely stamped out in this vicinity. There were twenty-two cases and eleven deaths.

Those afflicted were six children of S. K. Johnson, three of whom died, two girls and one boy.

El. Johnson's family, four children sick; two girls died.

A. K. Cochrane's family, wife and three children sick; one boy and one girl died.

Robt. Cochrane's family, wife and two children sick; both children died.

Thomas Cochrane had the disease, but not very badly.

Mrs. Barrett and two children sick; Mrs. Barrett died.

Mary Ferguson, a girl fourteen years old, had the disease and died.

Three women had the disease, and one died.

One man had the disease, but lightly.

Ten girls had the disease, and eight died.

Eight boys were sick, and two died.

Believing that some of those that went to help their neighbors in their hour of need deserve to be remembered, I will give their names.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett went to assist in caring for A. K. Cochrane's children. Mrs. Barrett took the disease and died at Mr. Cochrane's house.

Messrs. James Savage and Sam Salisbury and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Warner went and cared for Mrs. Rob Cochrane, Mrs. Warner's sister, all through her sickness.

All of the Cochranes; men and women, done all they could.

Mrs. Potter, a sister of Mrs. A. K. Cochrane, came and helped her sister.

Our minister, Rev. Halfpenny, was with us all the time.

Doctors Philip, of Hope, and Carr, of Northwood, were untiring in their efforts to cure the sick and stay the fearful disease.

Clifton school No. 1 will open again March 1.

Miss Cina Barrett is keeping house for her father.
