

While turning a grindstone John Oppegard had the misfortune to break it. He received the pieces in his face. One splinter lodged in his eye. Mr. Oppegard went to Valley City for medical aid and the particle was successfully removed.