

Miss Whittacre was thrown from her horse during the storm Sunday last week. She sprained her ankle in the fall and was unable to remount or walk home so had to remain until lound by friends who went to look for her when her horse came home with empty saddle.