

There were two deaths from diphtheria in the family of Otto Keyster, who lives in North Valley City, last week. A two-year-old child died Thursday and another child, aged about sixteen, died the following day. Other members of the family have been ill with the same disease, but are reported to have fully recovered. The residence is quarantined.