

Kermit Wickham and Ole Olson, driving the little Wickham racing car on the state road west of town Wednesday afternoon were parties to an accident that badly smashed up their car and a fine big Chalmers driven by a man named Kvalseth, who is said to reside near Sutton. Both cars were coming east Wickham, who was driving making ready for the south turn off the road to go home. The second car, following the Wickham car, caught up to the first car right at the turn, striking the car a rather slanting blow. Both cars, coupled by the impact, went into the ditch. Neither car turned over but both went into the bank with such force as to cause great damage to both cars. Olson is thought to have suffered a broken shoulder bone.—Sentinel-Courier.
