Winsome Wit and Wisdom

Life's heaviest burden is to have nothing to carry:—Anon

B. W. [Looking at thermometer] Bet you don't know what time it is.<sup>sp</sup>

H. P. [Looking at watch] Yes, I do, but I bet you don't know what the air pressure is today.

Dou't be selfish. Selfishness is one of the meanest of vices, and the parent of a dozen more. Selfishness keeps a penny so close to the eye that one can't see a dollar beyond.

Practical Rules For Success

Be careful of promises; good signs of rain don't make the corn grow.—Busy Man's Code.

A teacher had been telling her class of small pupils a few facts about ancient history. She concluded with: "And children, don't forget that all this happened 2,200 years ago." For a moment all were silent, but finally a small boy spoke. "Gee, teacher, you've got a swell memory!"—Successful Farming

Economy is in itself a great revenue.—Cicero

Though sages may pour out their wisdom's treasure.

There is no sterner moralist
than pleasure.—Byron

The home talent play presented in the Sutton opera house last Saturday evening was wonderful. Such a cast with such a plot to unfold should see the footlights of Broadway. Yes and should loosen the purse strings of Wall Street too! "Yer gosh dinged right!!"

Our H. S. Philosopher

Better is less with safety,
Than enough with ruin.

John G. Neihardt

He that can have patience
Can have what he will.

Benjamin Franklin

Teacher: "Who can give me a sentence using the word 'fundamental?'"

Ikey "Mine sister vent oud horse back riding and ven she came back she had to eat fun da mantel"
