

Banister Banter

Winsome Wit and Wisdom

His mother: "and if you go to school regularly and pay attention you'll soon know as much as your teacher."

Small Son: "I should know now if I had the book in front of me like she has."

Never do a thing unless you know why you do it. Knowing why you do a thing is the only way you can get satisfaction out of doing it.

Our H. S. Philosopher

Knowledge is that which, next to virtue, raises one man above another.—Anon

What you are tomorrow will be the result of your plans today.—Anon.

Attractive, according to Noah Webster, means: "Having the power to attract; alluring, enticing. A pupil in the third or fourth grade was asked to give a sentence using the word attractive. Here is what he gave: "I am very attractive in class."

Where the offense is, let the great ax fall.—Shakespeare

You will find success in the word itself—the second letter.

Anon

What will it profit to know ten languages, when he can't even make a living in one.

Anon

Monday evening the Hannaford high school baseball team came up and took a teaspoon of their own medicine from the hands of our local H. S. team, and by George! they took it like a bunch of regular "he-men."

Our H. S. Philosopher

Prof. "Is it true that statistics prove women live longer than men?"

A Freshie: "Well, you know paint is a great preservative."

Our commercial geography text tells us that the greatest production of wheat ever reached in the United States was 1,000,000,000 bushels. Oh well, that will keep fifty chicks alive for a few weeks anyway.

H. S. Pessimistic Observer