

The oil well at Glenfield was down 1300 feet at the latest report, and going down fast. At that rate 2000 feet will soon be reached, when the promoters hope to find the first indications of oil.