

Paul Black was in town one day last week, the first time since recovering from his long illness.