

J. S. Byington is another of our progressive farmers who is going to pin his faith to high grade live stock hereafter. While at the sale in Fargo he bought the prize Shorthorn bull of the lot, which was consigned by Hammer Bros. of Cooperstown. This animal brought a fancy price, the amount paid being $1375. This is a pretty stiff figure, but it is such animals as these that bring the big money for those who have the nerve to tackle the business and handle it properly. We imagine there will be some vast changes in the livestock business in this community in a few years.
