

L. G. Hafner is building a small house to replace the one burned on his farm last fall. It will be used temporarily until such time as he can put up a suitable residence.