

Saturday evening Matt Haugen's little daughter was very seriously burned by falling into a bonfire around which a number of children were playing. The child was burned on nearly her whole body, but the most serious burns were on her face and head. Although prompt medical care was given, and every-possible was done for the child, the injuries are very painful and the child is suffering fearful agonies—Hannaford Enterprise.