

Peter Lyle has decided to give up farming and will have a sale this fall. His third son Stewart, has applied for enlistment in the merchant marine service, so without any help at all, Mr. Lyle feels that he is too old to try to farm alone.