

J. S. Byington's car and the speeder from the east end collided on the crossing north of Mr. Byington's house Saturday, causing quite a shakeup to the occupants of both vehicles. Mr. Byington did not hear the approach of the speeder until he was almost on the track, and as is the usual way of a Ford, it continued to travel in spite of his effort to stop it until squarely on the track. The impact of the speeder caused John Peters to be thrown about forty feet, and A. H. Field, who jumped off sustained a fractured bone in one arm. Mr. Byington did not receive any injuries, and his Ford was only slightly damaged.
