

While working in the basement of the house he moved to town, Robert Starr slipped and fell on the steps Tuesday, in such a manner that his arm was caught between two of the steps, almost causing it to be broken. The flesh on his arm was badly bruised, and he has to carry the member in a sling.