

Alfred Soli and S. C. Swanson returned home Saturday from Wisconsin. They arrived there in time to get the benefit of the big snow storm that swept that country recently. There was a fall of eighteen inches on top of what was already considered a big snow. It cost the city of Minneapolis $25,000 to remove the snow from her streets.