

The first fatal accident of the harvesting season in this neighborhood occurred last Saturday near Clark City at the place of Will Schultz. Gunder Walsath slipped down the side of a stack and came in contact with a fork handle which penetrated his rectum about a foot. The injured man died about thirty-six hours after being hurt.