

DOVER.

Haying is in full force at this place. A number of the farmers will be practically through by the last of the week.

We are reminded that harvest is at hand by the appearance of an expert for the Deering binder company, on the 26th inst., suggesting the necessary repairs for good running order. He was accompanied by machine agent M. L. Feckler.

Miss Stedge, the popular teacher of the Merry school, attended the afternoon services in the schoolhouse last Sunday. Also Albert Nutt, wife and family were in attendance at both the afternoon and evening services.

Effie Donaldson visited Mrs. C. M. Kribbs on her way to Kensal last week.

Frederick Grahn came to Dover last Sunday to hear Rev. White's sermon. "W. E. Gladstone" was the subject. He also visited friends at this place.

The addition to R. Brusky's house is under construction and is being pushed rapidly to completion.

U. W. Lantz is not behind in improvements. Last Saturday he put a pump in the well at the barn, which greatly lessens the labor of watering stock.

Mrs. D. Berlin was very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. William Sandy one day this week.
