

Erick Larson, who lives at Leal, had his eye badly cut while doing the knife act on a piece of rope Saturday, and a hurried trip to this town was necessary. Dr. Wanner put a few stitches into the wound and the man is around again. It seems he disobeyed the time-honored instructions to always draw the knife away from you.

---