

pened is not known, or that he received the injury there which resulted in his death.

It is reported McGuire said, when he came to the Wisconsin house, that he had been to the wedding at the home of John Woblske, a mile north of Spiritwood lake, Monday night, the 6th, when he got into a mix-up and several of the men "jumped on him" and he was struck in the back of the neck. A swollen place indicated he had received quite a "jar" there from something or other. He was intoxicated when he came to the hotel and the next
