

Douglas Johns stopped off here Saturday, enroute from Chicago to Seattle where he now resides. Mr. Johns was one of the first settlers to locate here, who took up land north of town, and is well known here. He visited with his old friend, James Reid who took him up to the old homestead. He was greatly surprised the way Courtenay has improved and pronounced it one of the best towns along the line.