There seems like there will be a shortage of twine in the state this year. The International Harvest Co. is reported sold out the Minnesota state prison and the Bismark prison also.

A large barn belonging to Wm. Gallopi southeast of Sanborn was set on fire by lightning on Sunday night last, destroying it and 14 head of horses and other things. The loss will be very heavy for the owner.

Rob't Stabenow is having a cistern dug on his farm north of town. So much rain has fallen this summer that the people hate to see it wasted, hence they get the cistern maker, Carl Hagg, and have cisterns made to hold all they can catch.

All those who are subscribers to the Gazette and Bugle are asked by the editor to be special correspondence, as it is hard to pick up the news items while busy about other work, so when you have some news phone it in to the editor, or if anything special send it or bring it in.

W. H. Rounseville and J. H. Doty of St. Peter, Minnesota came to Spiritwood on Wednesday last to look over their business interest here. They stayed until Wednesday evening and went to Jamestown, where they took the train for LaMoure, where they have interests also. They intend coming back to this berg and make an extended stay. They report the crops in Minnesota very nice.

W. P. Hayes was a Jamestown caller on last Thursday.

We have secured the agency for the Famous Farm Cushman Binder engine and will soon have one on our floor for exhibition. Call and see it. This engine is attached to the rear end of the binder with a bracket especially designed for this purpose. It only weighs 167 lbs., without the sub-base. It has a water cooling tank that sets on the frame of the tongue truck and counterbalances the weight of the engine on the rear of the binder, as it takes different sprockets to fit the different binders. Save a team in this harvest. In all probability this will be a wet harvest by the looks of things now and an engine on your binder will save a lot of grain that you cannot get with the teams pulling in.

If interested call or write us for prices.
