Herman Peters was a caller here Monday last week.

Miss Edith Farley visited at her sisters home in this berg for a few days last week.

Fred O. Fried was an Eckleson caller on Monday last on business.

Albert Weis has purchased a Reo auto, also Robert Stabenow.

E. C. Nelson of this berg called at Jamestown on Monday last on business.

Nels Albin had his large barn equipped with lightning rods on Friday of last week.

Miss Lena Toepke of Bismarck is spending the week with her sister Mrs. Theo Price of this place.

Miss Mable Bronson of Chicago is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Dunwell at this time.

Fred O. Fried was a Wimbledon caller at his home there over the Sabbath returning Sunday evening.

There was no preaching here on Sunday last owing to the fact that Rev. Herbig was a caller at Gwither, N. D., on that day.

Thos. Kane was a caller at Jamestown on Saturday last. Thos. is learning a little towards an auto and we would not be surprised to see him running around in one in the near future.

Anton Fried was at Jamestown on Friday and Saturday of last week, he made the trip to Jamestown in a new Reo, returning on the train to here and his son took him overland home on Saturday evening.

Nels Albin left on Saturday evening last for Fargo where he will see some doctors in regard to his health. He has not been feeling very well since last winter. He returned the first part of the week.

Rev. Danford held the second quarterly conference at the M. E. church at this place on Wednesday evening of last week. Quite a number attended and all enjoyed his sermon which was based on the word Faith.

Editor Wardwell of the Pembina Express thinks the militant suffragettes should be treated as lunatics and placed in the asylums instead of being locked up in jails.

Another scene of "egg-throwing" was enacted here on Sunday evening, one of the participants was a well-known young man of this berg who ought to know better, the others are younger children and unless this is stopped there will be some one who is going to take care of the children if their parents cannot.

Rev. Herbig left on Tuesday morning for Tower City, where he will make his home for the time being. It will be remembered that he has a farm at that place and the man that had rented it became sick and unable to do the work on the farm. Mr. Herbig will make that point his home part of the time and the rest of the time he will make his home here.

LISZT SMOKED CIGAR DAILY

But Great Musician Insisted on Having a Good One, Until His Day of Misfortune.

Liszt was in the habit of smoking one cigar a day. But that one cigar was an exceedingly choice one. When he was starting on a journey he told his valet how many days he would be

Military Leaders of Byzantium Made Up by Finesse What They Lacked in Numbers.

After the decline of Rome the center of the world's military progress was, for seven or eight centuries, transferred to the Greek empire. Constantinople ruled elements of a much less homogeneous nature than Rome, in her prime, had depended upon. There was less loyalty to the central rule there, and far less liberty under it.

The decisive military fact of the east was, however, that Byzantium had to contend against overwhelming numerical superiority in its enemies. South of it, from the Indies to the Atlantic, was the Saracen empire, burning with the zeal of a new religion. To the east were the Seljuk Turks, while to the north were the Bulgarians, and the Slavonian and Hunic tribes.

Against such odds it was useless simply to match man for man. The military leaders of the empire were full of military spirit and took keen delight in war as a game; but they were the descendants of Ulysses, and they made of war a game of finesse, of cleverness—in short, a war of wits. By their spying and bribes, by stirring up treason in the enemy's camp, by surprises, simulated retreats and ambush, they illustrated the saying of Bacon that stratagem is a weaker kind of policy, used by those who are not strong enough to win by fairer methods.—Engineering Magazine.
