John Elvig Writes on Conditions in Norway

The Enterprise has received a letter from John Elvig, a former resident of Hannaford, who left with his family for Norway early this fall. In the letter dated November 13th, Mr. Elvig gives his impression of his native land, and describes conditions there as very bad. The people, he says, have gone insane in their desire to spend, and everybody is trying to outdo the others in living beyond
