

John Lie was the victim of an accident Saturday morning resulting in a broken nose. While it was too wet for threshing Saturday forenoon, Mr. Lie with the other boys of the crew were spending the time in the hay loft of the barn and while there they began playing various stunts with the result that Mr. Lie, who was swinging in the hay slings, fell down in the hay where some hard article was concealed and had the nasal bones splintered. He was brought to Dr. Benson's office for attention and is on the way to a speedy recovery.
