

Hans Wedum and Alfred Lind have returned from Northern Minnesota. They report that work is still plentiful in the woods, but the wages have recently been reduced and for this reason many are quitting.