

Chas Cederson, the veteran section foreman of the Northern Pacific at this place, has been at the railroad hospital at Brainard the past week. Some time ago he had one of his toes badly crushed and while the injury was not considered serious it has lately become worse and it may be found necessary to have the toe amputated.