

Doings In Our School

Edited this week by Orney Dunnum

Those neither absent nor tardy for the first month in the Intermediate room are: Myrtle Aarestad, Harold Helmerson, Rachel Knauss, Russel Richardson, Kenneth Rosdal, Lydia Thoreson, Louise Helmerson, Robert Jones, Dorothy Angus, Thelma Dunnum, Selma Helmerson, Clarice McCallison and Myrtle Westley.

The multiplication table is the center of interest at present in the 4th, 5th and 6th grade arithmetic classes. The fourth grade are greatly enjoying their new language book, "Speaking and Writing."

Elmer Larson entered the High School on Monday.

The first meeting of the Adelphi Literary Society was held after school on Tuesday. Edith Olson, who was elected president at the close of school last year, took that position and the following officers were elected: Secretary, Oscar Westley; Vice-President, William Westley; Program Committee, Minnie Anderson, Sadie Sorenson and Orney Dunnum.

At this meeting a motion was made and carried that a bill for last year's debate material be paid. It was also suggested that we have a debate team.

The principal of the school at McHenry sent Prof. Coddling a challenge stating that he would debate our team at any date, on any subject that we choose and at any time. This challenge aroused the feeling of the pupils and a meeting was held on Wednesday evening at which twelve members were present. Many questions for debate were discussed and the question for debate will be on national defense.

The English III class have been studying Poe during the past week.

The first program of the Literary Society will be held on Friday afternoon, Oct. 29.

All the pupils of the school are very enthusiastic over the art exhibit to be held in November. An account of it is given in another part of this paper.
