

McHenry Tribune: Again we must chronicle the leaving of another of our estimable families from our city. Mr. and Mrs. McOuat were among the first to build a permanent home in McHenry and were numbered among our most influential citizens. Many will be surprised at their going to Hannaford to make their future home. Mr. McOuat's position as traveling auditor for the Crane-Johnson Co. made Hannaford a much more central place and they therefore decided to make their home there. They retain their property here, however, and their many friends hope to welcome them back again some day in the near future. Mrs. McOuat, recently president of the Congregational Aid Society, was given a dainty lavalliere as a remembrance from that organization. The Tribune joins with their host of friends in wishing for them every success in their new home.
