

John L. Miklethun went to Fargo last Tuesday to bring home with him his son Alvin who had been at the hospital for a number of days having a splinter of bone removed from a finger which he recently crushed in an accident.