

While the Overby family, who live on the Chas. Nelson farm near Walum, was attending church services on Sunday afternoon, a transient broke into their house and took the money he found, which amounted to only a couple of dollars, and helped himself liberally to things to eat. He was just climbing out of the window to make his escape when he was seen by the owner of the premises who was returning from church, and he was finally captured after a chase across the fields. He was taken to Hannaford and lodged in the jail till Monday morning when he was given a hearing before Justice Kencke, who bound him over to the District court, and in default of bail he will be imprisoned in the county jail until the court convenes. He was taken to Cooperstown by Marshal Bergren Monday. His name is August Fresonke.
