C. A. Evenson went to Fargo last Tuesday, returning home Wednesday.

Mrs. Eric Wallin and Miss Clara Swan left last Monday for Barron, Wis., where they will attend the wedding of Alfred Fogderud.

M. McGee was up from Valley City Thursday.

Mrs. Dan Clark of Edmunds, N. D., arrived Friday for a visit at the Geo. J. Jacobson home.

Henry Lewis and wife returned Friday from Verona where they had been to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lewis' sister, Miss May Kapping.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fogderud, their daughter Laura and son Conrad, left Friday evening for Barron, Wis., to attend the marriage of their son Alfred to Millie Bjugstad at the bride's home, Wednesday evening, Feb. 16.

On account of the blustering weather and poor roads the dance billed for Friday evening was postponed until some future date.

The board of directors for the Farmers Cooperative Mercantile Co. met Saturday afternoon in the lodge room over the store, getting figures of the business to present to the stockholders who will meet Saturday, Feb. 19. They also accepted the resignation of A. D. Anderson which was handed to the secretary a few days ago, and came as a complete surprise to the members of the board and the community at large. As yet Mr. Anderson has not fully decided where he will go from here or what field of business he will enter. His many friends regret his leaving the service of the store and possibly the community.

Eric O. Wallin left Saturday evening for Barron, Wis., to attend the wedding of Alfred Fogderud. He will also go to Chicago where his brother will be married soon.
