

Martin Westley is home from Minneapolis where he had been in the employ of the postal department. He was obliged to discontinue work temporarily on account of "poor health."