

Claus Jackson received word last week that his son-in-law's drug store at Terry, Mont., had been burned to the ground. Two other store buildings were burned to the ground at the same time, one on either side of Mr. Kencke's building. The origin of the fire is not known. Mr. Kencke had only about $2000 insurance on his property, so his loss will be great. The loss of his place of business is especially a hard blow to Mr. Kencke as he had just recently engaged in the business at that point and was just getting a good start.
