

O. C. Olson, who has for some years been the manager of the Crane Johnson Co. at Karnak, N. D., has severed his connection with that firm and is now located on his land at Lakewood, Wash. In writing to the Enterprise notifying us of the change of address, Mr. Olson says: "We are now located on our land at the north end of Lake Goodwin, where fishing and bathing is just fine. At this point of the Lake is a very fine summer resort and a good bathing beach and camp grounds, and plenty of boats to rent. Evergreen and fruit trees everywhere. I am more than pleased with western Washington."