

Philip Thoreson arrived home Sunday having completed his military duties. Philip has been through a great deal of the hardships and suffering endured by our soldiers in France, and is glad to be home and out of the service. Our readers know something of what Philip has been through as we have had the privilege to print from time to time extracts from his letters home.