

Hymen's Halter.

WASHBURN—HUSEL.—At the residence of the groom, on Monday, July 2, 1883, by Justice S. Goldthrite, Mr. Millard F. Washburn to Miss Mary Husel, Both of Cooperstown.

Old-fashioned and commonplace as weddings may be, there is no denying but that a good degree of interest perennially attaches to and surrounds them. Events of this character are necessary to mark the true happiness of every man and woman, hence the interest such topics absorb is perfectly in order. Mr. Goldthrite performed the ceremony at the Washburn & Cooper farm residence in an artistic manner that would force upon a stranger the idea that he had never done else but tie silken knots with both ends tucked in. Immediate friends and relatives were the only guests, and Mr. Chas. Cooper and Miss Husel (sister of the bride) acted as bridesmaid and bridesman to the happy pair.

The high contracting parties of the above occasion are so well known and respected in this community that the COURIER can say nothing new to their credit. She a beautiful, accomplished, loving and beloved woman; he a noble, careful and industrious man well established in life, they are well fitted for each other's happiness. After partaking of a sumptuous "lay-out" the joyous couple started for a brief tour to the groom's old home in Minnesota. With them they carry the honest hope of a host of friends that the blossom that has thus bloomed in their lives may never wilt or wither, but that their's may be an unalloyed career of perfect felicity. Cooperstown will remain their home.

against running of trains on Sunday, but the railroad company disregarded them.

James R. Grant, who in 1869 killed Rives Pollard, a Richmond editor, for slandering his sister, died Friday in Goochland county, Va. He had been on the minstrel stage some years under the name of James Russell.

In about one month a marble statue of Zachary Taylor will be unveiled at his grave, eight miles from Louisville. All the survivors of the Mexican war are to be invited. Gen. Grant will probably attend.

Mayor O'Brien of St. Paul, created a sensation on Wednesday by ordering the closing of all the gambling dens. The gamblers submitted quietly and will go to other localities or pursue their business in secret.

Christopher O'Brien was inaugurated mayor of St. Paul on Tuesday last. He is expected to warm the gambling fraternity. He appointed John Clark, chief of police in place of Webber.

The Pennsylvania senate yesterday passed the house bill to abolish the contract custom in prisons and reformatory institutions. Gov. Pattison will sign it.

There are about 75,000,000 feet of logs, about one-half of the entire cut tributary to Duluth, hung up, the water in streams being so very low.

The Oregon Iron and Steel works, at Portland, were ordered to construct 500 cottages for the new rolling mills employes.

A recent estimate states that New York pawnbrokers have $200,000 worth of pledges on hand.

on the various lots into which other sections are divided. The 160, marked B in the diagram, has an altitude of fifty to seventy-five feet greater than of the railway track at the depot. Within scope are several rounded knolls upon which public buildings can be erected to command an excellent view of the surrounding country, the Missouri and its valley included. It is distant less than three-quarters of a mile from the depot, and the town already reaches with its alleys and streets its southern edge. Upon 140 acres of this it is probable the capitol building will be located, leaving 140 for sale to the Territory. Land immediately adjacent to this tract was sold last autumn for $312 per acre, in bulk, subsequently platted and the lots sold at an average aggregating $1,000 per acre. It is conservatively stated that there will be no difficulty in realizing from the sale of this 140 acres the $300,000 guaranteed the Territory by the Bismarck banks. This being done Dakota will secure $400,000 which will be used to erect public buildings, $100,000 being a cash payment on the part of the city. The 160, marked C is about three-fourths of a mile south of the railway depot, in what is known as the first bottom of the Missouri river; in other words the northern grant commands a view which overlooks the town, the southern one is overlooked by it. The latter quarter section is, of course, not so valuable as the other, but a conservative estimate of its value, in the aggregate, is given as $100 per acre, which would make the plat worth an additional $16,000 to the Territory. As previously stated, there are many handsome brick stores and business buildings in the town, and the court house, which cost $30,000, was erected in 1889, and is a creditable and handsome structure. The Sheridan house, already referred to, is one of the notable buildings, and the new High school, the site of which is given in the diagram, will prove a great adornment. Many of the residences are handsome and
